FOR THE CHILDREN.

St. Andrew's Sabbath School Christmas Eve Entertainment, With a Beautiful Tree.

Tuesday evening the Sabbath School room at St. Andrew's Church was filled with the parents and friends of the little ones, gathered to witness the annual Christmas tree entertainment, and to participate in their joy and happiness.

There was rendered a very pleasing program, which was conducted by the superintendent of the school, Mr. Carl M. Rathbun, the numbers being as follows:

1. Song, "O, Little Town of Bethlehem," by the School.
2. The Lord's Prayer, in unison, by the School.
3. Christmas Collect, by the Superintendent.
4. Reading of the Nativity story, by the Superintendent.
5. Chorus: "Ring the Bells," by the School.
6. Remarks, by the Superintendent.
7. Song, by Mrs. Randolph's Infant Class.
8. Christmas Recitation, by Stanley Croft.
9. Recitation by Four Little Girls, "Love," "Cheer," "Kind Words," "Joy."
10. Cornet Solo, by Gaston Reddoch.
11. Dialogue, "The Road to Santa Claus' Land," by Mrs. Karns' Class.
12. Christmas Recitation, by Josephine Kingsley.
13. Dialogue, "The Christmas Stars," by Mrs. Clagget's Class. Tableau.
14. Santa Claus appears.

And the appearance of a veritable Santa Claus was received by the kiddies with every evidence of delight. To them every word he said was a keen and sparkling witticism, and it was hailed by the little folk with shouts of joyous laughter. The heavily laden Christmas tree was plucked shortly of its bounteous fruit, which was distributed to the eager children, all deeply thankful, and with joy beaming in their pleased and pleasing countenances.

Midnight Mass.

A Token of Esteem.

At Empalme, on Christmas Eve, there was presented to Mr. H. J. Temple, general superintendent of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, and his bride, a chest of table silver of elegant design and pattern, including forty-nine pieces, everything marked with the monogram of the recipients, which was given as a token of esteem and friendship by the subordinates of Mr. Temple in official station, and of appreciation of his fair bride.

The presentation took place at the residence of Mr. Temple, in Empalme, the donors being represented by Doctor Gunter, the company's surgeon, and Mr. J. B. Finley, assistance general superintendent. To the address of presentation Mr. Temple responded feelingly and appreciatively, assuring all the donors of the affection in which they are held by the gentleman and his bride. ## Just Eggs.

"An egg," explains an admirable essayist down in Kansas, "is composed of four parts—the shell, the yolk, the white, and the price. The shell is very fragile like one of the Ten Commandments and can be broken without an effort. The price is the biggest part of an egg and its greatest protection. The price along has saved millions of innocent young eggs from being boiled and eaten. Eggs are very delicate and spoil very quickly. When an egg spoils it puts its whole heart into the performance. One can tell a spoiled egg as far as it can be seen, and with one's eyes shut at that, if the wind is in the right direction. There was a time when everyone ate fresh eggs in summer and went without in winter. Nowadays, however, business methods have led men to buy all the fresh eggs in summer and store them until winter, when they have acquired a rich rasset flavor."
